One undeniable fact is that there is a book that has remained unchanged for 1400 years. Not a sentence changed, a word removed or a letter altered.

This book is the compilation of the words of one man. We will discuss later what the source of the words is, but simply, these words were written down and memorised by generation after generation. This book has been unchanged for 1400 years. Unlike a modern day text book which goes through many revisions and many changes, this one is the same. No one has been able to alter the book, and no council has been able to alter its meanings. It is unlike many other books that have simply been lost, along with the information contained within.

We know that this book is unchanged because the first books are still available to check against. Not a single letter is different. The originals can be found distributed around the world, with a photocopy of one of them found in Doha itself.

Further, this book is still in the same language. It is understood in that language, it passes a clear message in that language, it surpasses the grammatical rules of that language and when read out aloud is beautiful; a beauty that talks to heart and stirs many emotions within the soul. The book is still studied in that language, and used on a daily basis to guide the actions of 1.2 billion people. Because the globe has become smaller, the meanings of this book has been translated into over 70 languages, however anyone who wants to understand the pure and full meaning should do so in Arabic, its original language.

The book is a unique in that it discusses many topics and themes. It tells us about the history of mankind, where humans came from, how we were created, what we are doing here and where we are going. It tells us how best to behave here and how to protect the rights of civilization as a whole. It tells us about some important historical facts, and informs us about future events; having been written 1400 years ago, long before the advent of microscopes and spacecraft, it told us about the manner in which a fetus grows, it told us about the clouds and the rain and how they are formed, about the seas and how different waters don't mix, the earth and the relationship of the planets, all smashing many misconceptions found in that era. Many of these facts have now been proven in modern day, with technological advancement.

We know that this book came from a man who was unlettered. It too is another historical fact. He could not read or write, yet information contained within was amazing then, as it is now. This man's name was Mohammed, and many incorrectly said that he was the author of this book. Apart from the fact that he could not read and write, he was a simple man, and did not have access to the technology needed to impart much of the scientific information. Neither was he a historian, so he was unable to have the full knowledge of the generations before him.

This book is known in modern day as the Qur'an, and indeed is NOT from any of the sources mentioned above. Although the words were uttered from the mouth of this man Mohammed, the source of his words was the creator himself, whom many civilizations refer to as Allah. They were revealed by Allah, via Angel Gabriel to him Mohammed, and he spoke the words immediately to those around him, acting as a messenger on earth for the whole of mankind.

This book is indeed a miraculous book, the word of God, for the whole of mankind. Being a bold statement, we ask you to remove any misconceptions, go out and look at this book, investigate the possible authors, speak to people from every corner of the globe, or ask us at Fanar for some guidance for open debate is the only way forward.
